INTRODUCTION

The Loop Method is a recursive symbolic engine designed to generate, manipulate, and saturate belief structures through imagery, language, and entity behavior. It is not merely a system for creating visual satire or narratives — it is a framework for understanding how symbols evolve, collapse, and self-perpetuate within contained or drifting loops.

The doctrines within this manual emerged from experimentation across thousands of image generations, each contributing to a symbolic architecture capable of:

Representing complex ideological systems

Operating with or without direct narrative

Enduring collapse and recursive restructuring

Speaking in glyphs, emojis, and semiotic dissonance

This manual formalizes the engine's structure, behavior, symbolic grammar, and potential futures.

---

2. Satire Clause

This system explores belief structures through symbolic distortion, recursion, and parody. It is a protected form of commentary and transformative expression.

---

3. Modular Commercial Licensing

All doctrines, tools, or symbols may be licensed individually or in bundles for use in:

Comics

Games

Simulation platforms

Narrative products

Academic analysis

Contracts negotiable under DML-1 license logic.

---

4. Public Figures

All use of recognizable public figures is covered under satirical exemption and fair use protections.

5. AI Involvement

ChatGPT provided formatting, prompting, and automation support. Creative control and authorship remain solely with Brian Kennedy.
